“InterACTIVITY: Influence of School Organization Participation on the Development of Socializing Skills Among SHS in UPHS”

WHY?

This research aims to determine the relationship and influence of participating in school organizations on the development of socializing skills of SHS students in UPHS. The goal is to understand whether participation in school organizations provides opportunities for students to develop or enhance their socializing skills.

WHAT?

The study will examine the influence of school organization participation on the development of socializing skills among SHS students. It aims to determine whether a significant relationship exists between participation in school organizations and the improvement of students' social skills.

WHERE?

The study will be conducted inside the campus of UPHS-GMA.

WHEN?

The researchers will conduct a survey and accumulate the data during students' break period so it won't affect their class hours. This will be conducted along the school year 2024-2025.

WHO?

The participants of this study will be senior high school students of UPHS who are actively involved in school organizations. These students will be selected based on their participation in extracurricular activities like clubs, sports teams, or student government.
